

Dear Katie:

Thank you for sharing this Anna Razumovskaya painting. The title of this painting is Enigma, painted around 2018 by Razumovskaya as a 72 in. x 80 in. mixed media (oil / silver Leaf) on canvas ("Enigma"). I really love how she renders the fine quality of the colorful clothes by their reflection. Her execution of their skin tone and reflection are also supreme. The poses of these four figures are elegant and their head position and eyesights express speechless beauty. Notice her usage of red and blue highlights on the female skin. That is just amazing. The application of silver on the both sides and the circle strokes on the lower portion create a flowing dynamic into this painting. She chose to illustrate these four female figures topless but wisely hide their breasts by their standing positions or natural placement of arms. The violin and earrings are interesting objects in this work and create mystery to viewers, fitting her title Enigma!
